Marco Meniketti Earns Eagle Rank for Project

Scouts from Albany Boy Scout Troop 12 have planted a strip of barren land on Albany Hill in a combined conservation and beautification project.

The project was planned, organized and supervised by Marco Meniketti to fulfill his requirements for Eagle Scout.

Marco thought that since the land was sliding into the road each rainy season, the washout could be prevented by planting a fast-spreading, flowering ground cover. A "plus" would be beautification of Albany Hill.

Five hundred plants were planted with the cooperation of the Park and Recreation department. This project was Marco's last step before beginning the paper work for Eagle Scout.

Albany Adult School Will Resume Jan. 4-March 19

The 11-week winter quarter of Albany Adult school gets underway Jan. 4 and will continue through March 19.

A wide assortment of day and evening classes are scheduled. Academic subjects include English, mathematics, science, speech and foreign languages. A large selection of business, homemaking, physical conditioning, parent education, and art classes have also been scheduled.

Adults with specialized interests might prefer enrolling in such courses as computer programming, aviation, high speed reading, income tax preparation, driver training, data processing, woodcarving, investments, law, basic electricity, real estate or photography.

Those who have not yet completed their secondary education should note that the Adult school conducts a program leading toward acquisition of a high school diploma. Counseling is available, and part of this service is to locate previous school records, evaluate work experience, and recommend a course of study that would fulfill graduation requirements. Many adults are surprised to find that through work experience, military duty, and ob training, only a few courses are needed for a diploma.

Most classes will meet on the campus of Albany High school, 603 Key Route Blvd. A single tuition fee of $4.50 covers registration for one or more courses. Those wishing further information should call 526-6441. Winter quarter class schedules and course schedules and course summaries are available upon request.

Albany Pool Reopens Jan. 4

Albany Pool will reopen Monday, Jan. 4, after having been closed five weeks for repairs and remodeling.

The winter-spring swimming instructional program for children and adults will begin Jan. 4. Registration for the 18-week winter classes will continue until all classes are filled. Registration will be at the Albany Pool, 1311 Portland Ave.

Time for these classes — Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. (one half-hour class with one half-hour free time).

Adult classes, through the Adult school, will be Monday and Wednesday evening, 6:30-7:30-8:30 p.m. Water safety instructors, Part I is to be taught Wednesday nights only, 7:30-9:30. Calisthenics in the water will be given Tuesdays, 6:30-7:30.

There will be recreational swimming on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings 7:30-9:30 and on Saturday afternoon 3-4:50. The pool is also available for private parties by calling 526-6441.

Servicemen Express Thanks

(These are the first thank-you notes received by Albany Chamber of Commerce from servicemen who received Albany's Yule Pool gifts.)

The package arrived in good shape with the exception of the shave talc which was broken in transit. There was a lot of dust when the package was opened but everything cleaned up nicely and our bunker smelled great for the next few days.

I am assigned to a headquarters unit (artillery) located in the central highlands. There is not much Christmas spirit among the men, which is to be expected, but we're decorating with artificial trees and trying to make our bunks as Christmas as possible. Everyone is looking forward to the Christmas cease fire and a chance to get some extra rest and a good meal.

Thank you for your thoughtfulness in remembering me this Christmas and I wish you a very Merry Christmas.

Very truly yours,

I would like to thank you very much for the package, that was very nice of you. I really liked the radio—it is very nice and compact and I would like to thank you once again, I hope everybody had a very nice Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Your Friend,
R. E. PACHECO

Many thanks for the package. It was greatly appreciated by all 550 Marines in the squadbay in one way or another.

CPL. L. M. SMITH

I would like to thank all of the people of the City of Albany for their thoughtful Christmas package. It's great to know people care about you.

Merry Christmas,
CHARLES BUTCHER, U.S.N.

I am sending you this short note in the hope that I can convey my deepest appreciation for your fine and much needed gifts. It seems you could have been reading my mind and knew exactly what an overseas serviceman could possibly need.

Again, thank you very much for the gifts and also for sharing your thoughts during the Holiday Season.

C. JOHN CARLSON

Another Light Council Agenda

On the heels of a 13-minute pre-Christmas session, Albany City Council was expected to have another brief meeting last night.

Turner regarding TOPICS.

A resolution confirming the appointment of Samuel R. Dows as representative of the Planning and Zoning commission to the Beautification and Improvement committee concluded the agenda.

Chestmobile Statistics Released by TB Association

During 1970, the Christmas Seal Chestmobile, the 40-foot mobile testing van, operated by the TB & Health Association of Alameda County, gave 18,000 tuberculin skin tests, 12,000 spirometer pulmonary function tests and 10,000 miniature chest X-rays as it was towed throughout the county, stopping about three weeks in each community.

These statistics were released by Colin Sinclair, M.D., vice president, TB & Health Association of Alameda County.

According to Dr. Sinclair, Fremont holds the record for the largest turnout in 1970. In that city, 3,000 tests were given in a 13-day period. Other information released by the Christmas Seal statisticians revealed that the van had been open for business, during the year, 1,501 hours, had used 2,112 hours of staff time and 1,056 hours of volunteer time. Approximately $775 worth of power was used to operate it.

Along with its regular testing program, the Chestmobile has, for the past two years, also given a multiphasic screening program in cooperation with the Alameda County Health Department.

Pointing to the fact that the number of chest X-rays has dropped in the past year or so, Dr. Sinclair explained that this is because much TB infection in the county is being pin-pointed by skin testing, thus lessening the X-ray need.

Findings for 1970 will not be made public until the middle of 1971, but statistics for 1969 are available. They show that lung lesions were found in 160 persons during that year as compared to 757 for 1968. This does not mean, he pointed out, that these were all cases of active TB. It means only that lung lesions were found, thus indicating need for follow-up examinations. In 1969, 28 cases of previously unknown emphysema were spotted.

The Chestmobile, supported by contributions from Alameda County residents to Christmas Seals, started touring the county in 1967. A group of loyal volunteers in each community assists the van's staff with registration and reception.

The Chestmobile will be stationed at 30th and Broadway, beginning Jan. 4 and will remain there until Jan. 14.

Dick Groves Here For Christmas

They are also the parents of Aimee, three.

He said his mother, Irene Grove, former manager of Albany Chamber of Commerce, is now a college graduate and working toward her master's degree in social work in Arizona. Dick and his family will go to visit her in Westminster when they leave Albany.

MAKE YOUR PICTURES AS PRICELESS AS YOUR BABY

When a young lady finishes her bath, she has to decide what to wear. If your camera is ready, you can capture each fleeting expression as fast as it occurs.

Infants, as every mother and photographer knows, cooperate with adults only as long as they feel like it.

Whether you pose the pictures or take them as they come, don't let your baby's first year slip away without a record. There'll never be another chance.

Bath time is an ideal picture-taking time. The combination of baby, suds, and water is certain to produce appealing situations. Be sure you take pictures at the baby's level for best results.

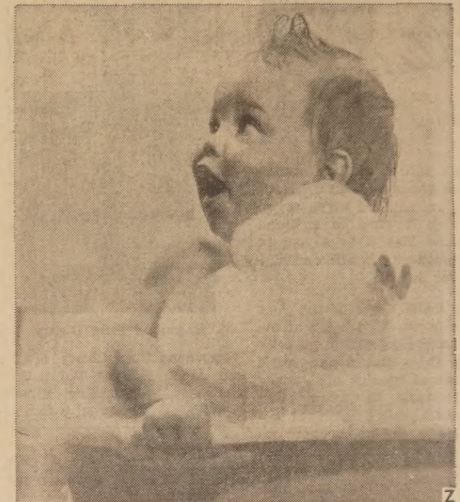

NEW YORK (ED)—Your baby is priceless, from the soles of his tiny, wrinkled feet to the wispy little curl on top of his head. The pictures you take of him can be priceless, too, if you follow a few simple suggestions.

The first, and most important, is to hold your camera steady. The cutest baby in the world is lost in a blurry picture. The second, when you are dealing with as changeable a model as a baby, is to keep your camera loaded and handy at all times, so that you don't miss a single precious moment. Since the baby spends most of his time indoors, a supply of flashcubes (or magcubes if you have one of the new Kodak Instamatic "X" cameras which eliminate flash batteries) is a must too.

Opportunities for pictures will occur throughout the baby's day, but there are, inevitably, some times which are better than others. Just after naptime, when the baby is happy and alert, is an ideal time for a portrait.

Bathing and feeding are excellent times for a series of shots, particularly when the baby has first begun to feed himself.

There's nothing wrong with a little deliberate posing either, as long as the baby is happy.

An added prop, which will attract the baby's attention, is almost sure to produce an interesting expression. In this case, a simple bubble has helped create a memorable picture.

Community Mental Health Center at Herrick Hospital

The appointment of Justin Simon, M.D., as director of the Herrick-Berkeley Community Mental Health Center was announced recently by Hershel W. Shelton, administrator of Herrick Memorial Hospital, and Stuart Goldstein, M.D., Berkeley's acting director of public health.

The center results from the combination of the mental health services which are provided by the city and the hospital.

Dr. Simon will direct the mental health services now provided by the city: the outpatient psychiatric clinic for adults and children (located at Herrick), the community consultation and education programs, and the rehabilitation and after-care services; those provided by the hospital: the 24-hour a day psychiatric emergency service, the inpatient service, and eventually a partial hospitalization service for patients not requiring full hospital care. Both agencies also have extensive training programs for psychiatric residents, social work students, and postgraduate psychology trainees.

In making the announcement, Dr. Goldstein and Shelton pointed out that both the City of Berkeley and Herrick Hospital "have been involved in mental health services for a very long time with commitment and creativity."

"The professional activity of mental health consultation and education was being provided by the City of Berkeley long before such activities were promoted by the federal government, and Herrick was the first community general hospital in California to establish an inpatient psychiatric service which enabled patients to stay near their homes rather than hospitalizing them at a great distance from their families and friends."

The two local health care leaders explained that the Herrick-Berkeley Community Mental Health Center is a "new system of mental health care which coordinates and extends the programs and services of private, public, and voluntary agencies for the prevention and treatment of mental illness."

The goals of the center, Dr. Goldstein and Shelton said, will be to:

1. Increase the availability of mental health services to meet the urgent and unmet needs of the Albany-Berkeley area;
2. Coordinate existing services with each other and with new programs to develop a comprehensive network of mental health facilities with continuity of patient care; and
3. Provide new populations with mental health services not now available to them.

"Excellent separate mental health services—inpatient care, outpatient service, emergency service, community education and consultation, and training—which have been developed at different times under different auspices now will be well-coordinated under one administrative umbrella," they stated.

The center, they continued, also will focus on patients who pose new therapeutic challenges such as young children, drug abusers, alcoholics, the mentally retarded, the elderly, and minority individuals and groups.

The Mail Bag

Dear the Times:

As 1970 draws to a close, I write to express my thanks and appreciation for publicity given the Albany Times to the Berkeley Post Office during the past year.

We have been able to handle Christmas mail volume smoothly and efficiently this year, with a minimum of Christmas. Public cooperation by mailing early and using Zip Codes has been excellent. The publicity given to the Postal Service in the Albany Times definitely has been an important factor in securing this splendid cooperation from the public. Without publicity, our job this holiday season would have been much more difficult.

All employees of the Berkeley-Albany-Kensington Post Office with me in extending your sincere good wishes for a very Merry Christmas and a Happy Healthy New Year.

SUSAN WALSH MARRIES
ROGER EMMET LLOYD

Mrs. Roger E. Lloyd

Recent rites at St. Leo's Catholic church united in marriage Susan Jane Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Walsh of Oakland, and Roger Emmet Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Lloyd of Berkeley. The bridegroom is an Albany High school graduate.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a classic gown, made by her mother, of white velvet trimmed with Venetian lace. Her veil fell from a white bow and she carried a cascade of roses centered with an orchid.

She was attended by her three sisters, who wore floor length red velvet gowns and carried Christmas holly with red carnations. Matron of honor was Mrs. John Lipski of Glenview, Ill.; attendants, Mrs. Stan Pechovnik of Carmichael and Laura Walsh of Oakland. Their mother also made their gowns.

Attending the bridegroom were Jerry Duda and Dick Byce of Berkeley and his brother, William Lloyd of San Jose.

Flowers were in the Christmas theme at the church and at the reception for 125 which followed at the Hiller Highlands club.

Mrs. Walsh wore a jewel blue alaskan suit with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore an aqua silk suit with matching accessories.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will be at home in Oakland after Jan. 1.

The bride, who is working on her degree in speech therapy at Hayward State, is a graduate of Presentation High school in Berkeley and employed in Oakland. Her husband attends Laney Junior college, where he is a member of Alpha Phi Beta fraternity, is a reserve in the National Guard and employed by Safeway Stores.

Special Gift Book
Prepared for Blind Children

Some children cannot see, but they can read—with their fingertips. For them, there will be a special unique gift this year — "Expectations," published annually by the Braille Institute in Los Angeles and sent free nationwide to any blind child in grades three through six.

A copy has been sent to the Orientation Center for the Blind in Albany.

Last year some 5,000 copies were requested from across the United States plus approximately 280 from 20 foreign countries. The unique book, printed in Braille, is a 115-page anthology of the best in current children's literature and contains two pages of raised ("touch and see") illustrations.

"Many blind children who love to read do not have any books they can call their own," says Mrs. Betty Kalagian, editor of the volume and staff member of the Institute. "What current literature exists, she points out, whether it is in Braille, on records, or on tapes, must be borrowed from a library. 'Expectations,' however, is given to the individual blind child to keep on his own shelf, to read over and over again. The $5 cost of the volume is underwritten by contributions from various individuals, groups or organizations."

"Selection of material," Mrs. Kalagian says, "does not boil down to merely choosing the top-rated children's books. Essentially, blind children like to read the same things that sighted youngsters do; however, I try to pick material that can be understood without illustration, and to choose stories that appeal to senses other than sight." During the year she consults librarians, teachers, book reviewers plus various listings and services in the field of children's literature. And, of course, there is consultation with the young blind readers themselves, primarily through a correspondence in Braille.

A year's work goes into the production. First, authors and publishers of selected works must give reprint permission. Then the material is arranged in a logical order, (and in some cases condensed), transcribed into Braille on zinc plates, printed on Braille embossing presses, checked by blind proofreaders, and bound into a semi-hard cover. Included is the center spread double-page of raised pictures which illustrate some of the characters and items in the stories.

This year's "Expectations" includes seven complete books, some original poems and other material and several story excerpts. There is a chapter from Theodore Taylor's "The Cay," a poignant story of a blind color-conscious white boy shipwrecked on a Caribbean island with an old black seaman.

Persons wishing additional information on "Expectations" may write to Editor Betty Kalagian, Braille Institute, 741 North Vermont Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. 90029.

BEAUTY SALON and BARBER SHOP

by Hugh McElhenney

All-Pro Halfback Football Hall of Fame Consultant, NFL Training Table Football

If you don't understand the game, maybe I can help you. The idea, of course, is for the team with the ball to get it across the goal line. But that can involve a lot of action that just looks meaningless to a novice. To see what's happening best, without taking a graduate degree in football strategy, narrow your vision and concentrate on the key man, the quarterback.

The quarterback is one man who handles the ball on every play. Certain qualities distinguish a good quarterback: Intelligence. He senses the opposing team's weaknesses and directs his attack there, bearing in mind the capabilities of his own men.

Physical prowess. Ability to actually "hide" the ball, controlling the defense as to whether it will pass or hand off to a runner and if so, which one.

Courage. Leadership, of course. All these qualities are present to a degree in every quarterback. The great ones have them in abundance and in spades.

Happy Holidays
For all, we wish 365 happy and healthy days ahead. And to all our friends, we extend sincerest thanks.
